

Did You Know?
By Pat J. Krwin

THAT the soldier who directed the Union forces in the Civil War battle of Lookout Mountain was a Circlevillian named Jacob E. Taylor, who was a colonel and commander of the 40th Ohio Regiment. This battle, conceded to be one of the war's important ones, occurred on November 12, 1863.

Taylor was colonel of the regiment for the full term of its enlistment and had defeated James E. Garfield, later to become president of the United States, for the job. Garfield was afterwards named colonel of the 42nd Ohio Regiment.

Enlisting at the age of 40, Taylor quickly worked his way up in the ranks. At the end of three years service Colonel Taylor was given command of the 185th Ohio regiment with which he served until the close of the war. He was in the thick of the fighting at the Battle of Shiloh and also served with Generals Grant and Sherman in the campaigns in the west.

During the final months of the war he was in command of a brigade and for bravery and faithful service, he was brevetted a brigadier general of volunteers.

After the war Taylor returned to Circleville and engaged in an unprofitable business enterprise which caused him to lose considerable property. In 1883, at the age of 60, he moved to Burlington, Iowa. There he became a brick mason and worked until his health was impaired ten years later.

Having served in the Mexican war in 1845 Taylor received a small pension from the government, but up to 1890 he had not received any compensation for his Civil War service. This was brought to the attention of Governor Gear of Iowa and the latter personally caused to be introduced in Congress a bill which rewarded then 70-year-old Colonel Taylor with a reasonable pension.

That a Pickaway-co native who was representing a large Kansas district in Congress quit his job in 1890 because, he said, "his salary was insufficient to meet his expenses." Samuel R. Peters, born in Walnut-twp in 1859, went to Kansas at the age of 28 and became interested in politics. He was elected to the National House of Representatives in 1884 and was serving his third term when he made the rather astonishing announcement of his retirement from public office. Said Mr. Peters: "The reasons for my action are well embraced in the short sentence: I can't afford it. The expenses incident to so large a district are so great that for the past three years my salary has been insufficient to meet them. I find that if I am to support my wife and family I must return to my law practice in Kansas to make a decent living."

That Charles L. Krimmel, brother of Albert Krimmel, of Jackson-twp, became principal of Circleville high school four years after his graduation from the school. Born in Germany in 1843, Krimmel came to the United States with his parents at the age of 10. He attended high school and Oberlin College and became principal of the local school in 1866. He held the job for six years, later going to Columbus to become assistant superintendent of schools there. He later studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1870. From 1873 to 1878 he was a law partner of Judge S. W. Courtwright. With both brilliant educational and legal careers facing him, Krimmel abandoned them and became interested in politics. He was successful in several ventures, serving both the Ohio Senate and the House of Representatives at the state capital. He deserted this field and went to Leadville, Colorado in

RELIEF PLANS OF PRESIDENT APPEAR LOST

Enactment Of Dole System For Another Year Is Planned

WAGE RATE FOUGHT

Believe House May Kill McCarren Move

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23—Administration leaders of the senate moved toward a temporary abandonment of President Roosevelt's $4,000,000 work relief program today to concentrate on prompt enactment of a $1,880,000,000 fund for continuing the dole another year.

This was the apparent purpose of the administration's maneuvers, which climaxed in recommending the bill to the senate appropriations committee. It came as a result of the president's defeat on the McCarran amendment, which ordered the government to continue its historical custom of paying "prevailing rates of wages" on federal projects, even though the average worker's wages were held to a $50 monthly total by limiting his working hours.

Fear House Move
The administration's tactics were viewed with alarm by organized labor leaders, who feared some parliamentary move would be made to revive the work relief program without including the McCarran amendment. This might be accomplished by passing a direct relief bill in the senate and then adding the work program, without the McCarran amendment, in conference with the house.

Senator McCarran (D) of Nevada, author of the amendment, issued a biting warning against such a move. He virtually threatened to launch a senate filibuster to kill the bill entirely if the administration adopted such tactics.

Would End Dole
The bill originally proposed a $4,880,000,000 appropriation. Of this sum, $4,000,000,000 would have gone for relief projects and $880,000,000 for direct relief. It was the administration's plan to terminate the Dole by next December by transferring all persons from relief rolls to work projects.

SHORT NAMES THREE AIDES

Tipton to Succeed Krinn as Chief Deputy; Office Changes Hands Mar. 11

Forrest Short, Wayne-twp. who becomes Pickaway-co auditor March 11 succeeding Clifford M. White, today announced three of his appointees.

They are:

Fred L. Tipton, Williamsport, as chief deputy, the position now held by Thomas D. Krinn.

Mark Armstrong, W. Mound-st., as a clerk, taking the position now filled by Mrs. Frank Littleton.

John Messick, Ashville, as a clerk, taking the position now occupied by Leo White.

Tipton is publisher of the Williamsport News, a director of the Williamsport Farmer bank, and one of the leading citizens of his community and should make a splendid deputy auditor.

One position remains to be filled, that of deputy sealer of weights and measures now held by Claude Ater, Perry-twp. Mr. Short is not yet ready to announce his selection of that office.

When the Wayne-twp man assumes office he will be the first Republican to hold the auditor's job since before 1900.

DEFENSE PROGRAM PASSED BY HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23—Congress today completed the first step towards the largest national defense program in recent years as the house passed and sent to the senate the $378,699,488 war department appropriation bill.

Carrying funds for operation of the military establishment for the 1936 fiscal year, the measure also authorizes the president to increase the enlisted strength of the army from 118,750 to 165,000 men.

While no specific amount is allotted for this purpose the bill authorizes the president to draw on an indefinite appropriation to meet the expenses of the increase.

"Wall Street's Honest Man" Violently Insane

Greges, Who Found and Returned $42,000 In Negotiable Bonds, Declares He Is God; Lodger Looks At Writting Figure Then Dies

NEW YORK, Feb. 23—Frank Greges, sixty-seven year old "sandwich man," who a few weeks ago was catapulted into the nation's headlines, and comparative fortune, as the "Honest Man of Wall Street" by turning in to police a wallet containing $42,000 in negotiable securities, was violently insane today.

The hitherto mild, unassuming little man threw his Bowery lodging house into an uproar late last night when he flung himself writing and moaning upon the floor, and in stentorian tones proclaimed he was "God."

He raved that he was deity itself, that those upon whom he cast his "fatal" glance, died. That he had looked upon only three men fatally that day.

Lodger Falls Dead
In the midst of this pathetic scene, Robert E. Edwards, of Los Angeles, an itinerant lodger at the hotel, tripped blithely upon the stairs, took one look at the sobbing figure upon the floor, gasped—and fell dead!

As Edwards fell dead before his eyes, Greges renewed his maniacal rantings, and struggled with superhuman strength against the restraining hands of the night clerk at the hotel, and several other lodgers. One man ran for the police.

One patrolman answered the summons, but despite the assistance of several able-bodied men, was unable to cope with the madman.

Finally, with the help of three more policemen, and the concerted efforts of the helping lodgers, Greges was maneuvered down the stairs. One of the volunteer bouncers was thrown headlong down the entire flight in the melee.

At the police station, Greges was restored to comparative calmness, and insisted upon a new spelling of his name, "Gregoris."

Received Much Mail
The clerk at the lodging house said the man had received a steady stream of mail since his advent in the headlines, most of which contained money. He had received some $200 in this manner.

Following his return of the securities, "Gregoris" received countless offers of aid. Belden & Co., to whom the securities belonged, offered him a temporary job as a runner at $70 a month. The company insuring the negotiables contributed, also to the landfall of "wealth" showered upon the "honest man," as did many private citizens.

HAUPTMANN FUND REACHES $10,000

TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 23—Public contributions for the defense fund of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, convicted slayer of the Lindbergh baby, have reached a new high of $10,000, according to C. Lloyd Fisher, Flemington counsel for the Bronx carpenter.

Fisher declared today that the defense would require about $25,000 in all.

Since the state has already agreed to pay the primary cost of printing the record of the transcript of Hauptmann's trial, Fisher was asked why all this money would be required.

"There will be plenty of things to pay for with this money," he answered enigmatically.

Word from the death house of the Trenton state prison, where Hauptmann is confined, today, revealed he had requested his wife to bring a Lutheran minister with her in her next visit to the prison.

NELSONVILLE, Feb. 23—A 500-ton rock slide which covered Chesapeake and Ohio railroad tracks in a gorge south of here was cleared away today by workmen who labored throughout the night.

A freight locomotive was slightly damaged when it struck the pile of rock but fortunately Engineer John Kennedy of Columbus saw the slide in time to check the speed of the train.

KENAMER TO LEARN FATE

Judge to Pronounce Sentence; Four to 99 Years in Prison Possible

PAWNEE, Okla., Feb. 23—Nineteen-year-old Phil Kennamer nervously paced his county jail cell today waiting to be formally sentenced as the convicted killer of John F. Gorrell, Jr., Kansas City dental student.

Kennamer was scheduled to be taken before Judge Thurman Hurst this afternoon for sentencing on a conviction of manslaughter returned by a jury Thursday night at the close of an eleven day trial.

The young son of Federal Judge Franklin E. Kennamer may be given a prison sentence ranging from four to 99 years. Prosecutor Holly Anderson said he would ask a sentence of at least 50 years imprisonment.

Young Kennamer, said by alienists to be a dreamer of strange dreams and the addict of odd fancies, confessed shooting Gorrell to death in Tulsa last Thanksgiving night. He said he was forced to kill the student during a struggle for Gorrell's gun caused when Kennamer tried to dissuade his pal from carrying out a kidnap-extortion plot against pretty Virginia Wilcox, heiress to a Tulsa oil fortune.

Before sentence is passed today on Kennamer his attorneys are expected to introduce a motion for a new trial. A. Flint Moss, chief of defense counsel, said he will make an appeal if necessary.

PRISONER FALLS, KILLED IN JAIL

LANCASTER, Feb. 23—City authorities today launched an investigation into the death of Harry Pence, 55, who was fatally injured in the city jail when he fell from a bench after he had been arrested on charges of alleged drunkenness.

Coroner James L. Walt declared the man died from a skull fracture and cerebral hemorrhage. His face also bore bruises and his nose was broken.

Two transients who were lodged at the jail said they had seen Pence sitting quietly on a bench but that a few minutes later they heard a thud and looked around to see him lying on the floor.

2 Youths Unhurt In Triple Crash

Two well known youths, Lutz Ashbrook and George Iles, narrowly escaped serious injury at 1:30 a. m. Saturday when the former's Ford car struck the rear end of a north-bound coal truck on the Scioto trail then swerved in front of a south-bound automobile.

Ashbrook was driving north

when he ran against the rear-end of the truck driven by Max Russell, of Columbus. Russell's wife was with him. As the Ashbrook car struck the truck Ashbrook turned the wheels and the car went into the middle of the road. It had come to a stop before Tom Stevens, member of the highway patrol located at Wilmington, crashed his car into the Ashbrook Ford. Stevens told Sheriff Charles Radcliff, who investigated with Deputy Bob Armstrong, that the lights on the Ashbrook auto confused him so much that he could not tell which way to go.

How Ashbrook came to drive against the coal truck could not be determined by the sheriff. The youth said he didn't see the truck until a few seconds before the crash occurred.

No one was injured but Ashbrook's car was badly damaged.

He lives near Yellowbud while Iles, an employee of the Harden Stevenson garage, lives here.

REAL ESTATE VALUE FALLS

More Than Two Million Drop Since 1930 Reported In Auditor's Figures

Valuation of real estate in Pickaway-co has been reduced by $2,254,530 since 1930 according to figures sent by the auditor's office to State Auditor Joseph T. Tracy.

Figures on county valuations were asked by Tracy's office to determine how much money Pickaway-co should receive under the sales tax distribution. The checks are to be mailed out according to reports.

In 1929 the value of real estate in Pickaway-co was $9,654,080. In 1930 it was higher, $9,727,560, but the decline started in 1931 when the figure was $8,412,060. In 1932 it was $8,406,450 and at the end of 1933 was $7,473,030.

The report sent to Tracy also valued tangible properties for the 1929-1933 period.

In 1929 tangibles were valued at $7,220,590; 1930, $7,415,490; 1931, $9,734,425; 1932, $9,617,111, and 1933, $8,734,746.

List Four Projects

The county commissioners have listed four projects for which they may apply under the Public Works fund.

The projects are:

Addition to the children's home to cost $40,000, estimate.

Addition to the court house to cost $50,000, estimate.

New bridge over Hargus creek near the ice plant.

New bridge on the Whisler-Laur-ville road.

Estimates were not made on the cost of the bridges.

UNDERWOOD'S SOLDIER BILL IS CONSIDERED

11th District Representative Called For Interview By FDR

RECODIFIES LAWS

Abolition Of Present Bureau Is Favored

A plan of Congressman Mel G. Underwood, of the 11th Ohio district, to replace the present unbalanced system of soldiers' pensions benefits is being given careful consideration by President Roosevelt.

Friday, the president summoned Mr. Underwood to the White House to discuss his bill introduced to repeal all existing laws on veterans' relief, recodify them in a single statute, correct inequalities, abolish the present veterans' administration and transfer the activities to a new bureau under the treasury department.

The present system of pensions has grown up in laws dating as far back as 1862.

Abolish Two Offices

Regional offices of the veterans' bureau now operated in Cleveland and Cincinnati would be abolished and all work for this district would be done in a new central office.

Underwood's bill sets up permanent schedules for service-connected disabilities and provides for non-service connected disability compensation based on the age of the veteran. Hospitalization is provided for permanently disabled veterans with six months' active service. The bill includes provision for a joint committee of house and senate to be created in place of the four committees now dealing in veterans' affairs. The work of the new committee would be to supervise operation of the system and recommend revision of any schedule found inequitable.

Benefits in certain classes would be increased the representative says but he contends the additional expense would be offset by the savings in centralized management.

$5,000 on Payrolls

During the last year the present veterans' administration had 35,000 employees and paid $55,810,000 in salaries, more than 10 per cent of its disbursement in benefits.

Useless overhead, expenses and salaries to high-priced lawyers, physicians and swivel-chair officers were cited by Underwood.

STOCK NUMBERS DOWN, VALUE UP

For First Time Every Species Decreased In Numbers During Year

For the first time on record, the numbers of farm livestock of every species decreased during the year, in 1934, according to the monthly summary of farm conditions published by the department of rural economics at the Ohio State University.

But, adds the summary, in the same period there was an increase in total value of each species as inventoried on January 1, 1935.

Even of horses and mules, of which there is said to be a shortage, there is a decline recorded for the year. It was 1 1/2 per cent.

Decline in hog numbers, owing to drought and the government's adjustment program, was 35 per cent. In cattle, owing to the government's purchase program for relief purposes in drought areas, the decline was 11 per cent. The report states there are 6 per cent fewer dairy cattle, and 5 per cent fewer sheep.

Total value of all livestock on farms on January 1 was $3,164,000,000, a gain of a quarter billion dollars. Value per head for each species had risen enough during the year to offset the decrease in numbers.

Greatest gain in value per head was noted for hogs, the least, for sheep.

One of the most interesting signs of the times is the recognition given to the Leadership of Jesus Christ. In India you hear, "What India needs is Christ". In China you hear, "What China needs is Christ". And so the world around. It is only Christian nations who are relinquishing their hold on Christ. But that is a passing stage in their affairs. There will be a reaction. No dictatorship, however potent today can hold out tomorrow. The human heart cries out after God. We can save our country from the bitter experiences of blood-shed, tyrannous dictatorship if we loyally follow the way of Christ. The church teaches His way. Go to church tomorrow. Take a friend.

SCIENCE AND BUSINESS

John Scott Haldane, a great scientist says "If we lose sight of this spiritual world we have lost sight of what is alone ultimately real in ourselves, we are not realizing ourselves. Science is not enough. Reason in its highest form as religion and real religion, extending into every part of our lives, is what as it seems to me the world has most need of."

A business man has said, "Without the guiding influence of religion and the power it has over mankind, this nation would soon sink into barbarism and no business in it would be safe. Eliminate from any community the churches that are in it and property of all kinds would be practically worthless and the bats and the owls would soon take possession of the city." LESSON

(BY REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Member of Faculty, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, © Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for February 24

PETER HEALS A LAME MAN

LESSON TEXT—Acts 3:1-10; 4:8-12. GOLDEN TEXT—Then Peter said, Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have give I thee: In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth rise up and walk.—Acts 3:6.

PRIMARY TOPIC—How Peter Healed a Lame Man. JUNIOR TOPIC—Peter Carrying on Jesus' Work.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—A Helping Hand.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Gifts That Are Better Than Money.

In the teaching of this lesson it will be necessary to include all the material in Acts 3:1 to 4:13.

I. Peter Healing the Lame Man (Acts 3:1-10).

1. The place (vv. 1, 2). It was at the gate called Beautiful, which leads from the outer to the inner court of the temple.

2. The man (v. 2). This beggar was infirm from his birth. When he saw Peter and John, he asked alms.

3. The method (vv. 3-8).

a. Gaining the man's attention (v. 4). Peter and John commanded him to look on them, but not because they had any power within themselves.

b. Peter commanded him in the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth to rise and walk (v. 6). He had been unable to do this all his life, but with the command went the ability to do.

c. Peter took him by the right hand (v. 7). This act was meant to give impetus to his faith, not strength to his ankles.

4. The man's response (v. 8). Strength came into his feet and ankle bones at once. He stood, he walked, he leaped, and praised God.

5. The effect (vv. 9-11). The people were filled with amazement.

a. This helpless beggar had to be carried to the temple gate. Men and women out of Christ are so helpless that they need to be brought where the life of God can be applied to them.

b. Peter, in taking the man by the hand, shows the manner of helping the lost. While ministers and Sunday school teachers of themselves have nothing to give to the lost, they have the dispensing of the gospel of Christ.

II. Peter Witnessing Before the Multitude (3:12-20).

He told them it was faith in Jesus Christ, whom God had glorified and whom they had deliberately betrayed and crucified, that had healed this man. Despite their awful guilt, he appealed to them to repent (v. 19). God would pardon them if they would repent, and refreshing seasons would come to them when God should send back Jesus Christ to the earth to consummate the work of redemption.

III. Peter in Prison for Christ's Sake (4:1-4).

1. The leaders in this persecution (vv. 1, 2). Both priests and Sadducees joined in this wickedness. The priests were intolerant because these new teachers were encroaching upon their functions. The Sadducees joined the priests because they did not believe in the resurrection, which was a vital part of the apostolic teaching.

2. The result (vv. 3, 4). Peter and John were arrested and imprisoned. Though the witnesses were held in bondage by chains, Christ was not bound. The number of believers had greatly increased, so that there were now about five thousand.

IV. Peter Witnessing Before the Sanhedrin (4:5-22).

1. The inquiry (vv. 5-7). They inquired as to by what power and name they had wrought this miracle.

2. Peter's answer (vv. 8-12). With stinging sarcasm he showed them that they were not on trial as evildoers, but for doing good to the helpless and needy man. Since they could not deny the miracle, he boldly declared that it had been done in the name of Christ, and that the only way for them to escape God's judgment was to believe on his name.

3. The suppression upon the Sanhedrin (vv. 13-22).

a. They marveled (vv. 1-13). They were made conscious that they were on trial instead of sitting as judges upon Peter and John.

b. They took knowledge that Peter and John had been with Jesus (v. 13).

c. They forbade them to speak in Christ's name (v. 18).

d. Peter and John expressed their determination to obey God rather than man (vv. 19, 20).

e. Their release (v. 21). Seeing that the people were on the side of the apostles they had no way to punish them.

V. The Church at Prayer (vv. 23-31).

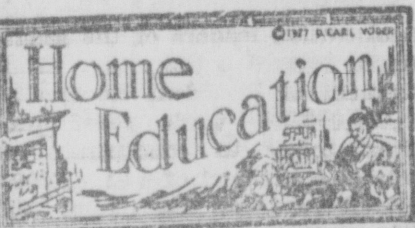

They praised God for deliverance and prayed for boldness to speak the Word of God.

Why Burden Ourselves?

The story is told of a knight who was going travelling one day and he thought it wise to provide himself against every emergency. So he put a mousetrap in his pocket, lest he be troubled with mice. He threw a beehive over his shoulders, lest he be pestered with bees. He put a mosquito net in his satchel lest he be annoyed with mosquitoes. And, in the end, he had such a load that he could not carry it. This is a parable of life. We burden ourselves with so many elements of prevention that the load becomes impossible. We gather up so many difficulties that work becomes a disabling drudgery. The art of life is to find joy in our work, so it may become easy. If our work is hard, it is because there is anxiety and friction.

Middle age is that time of life when we are old enough to know better and young enough to keep on doing it anyway.

"See my new dress?"—isn't it precious? Those buttons are "just pretending"—they don't really do a thing but serve as a trim, and they can be just as bright as a little girl likes them, so as to accentuate the brand new yoke line which Marian Martin designed especially for this new season. It sweeps from shoulders to bodice center, then dashes off to outline the inverted flat at the skirt. Little gathers where the dress joins the yoke make more fullness and a pretty detail. It's a dress that can be a little "toughie" for play, or made of sheerer materials for dress-up. Sleeves may flare instead of puff. Bloomers included.

Printing Contract For Annual Is Let

Chicago Engravers Receive Job, Local Firms Decline to Bid

The contract for the printing of the 1935 yearbook was let Tuesday to the Jahn and Ollier company of Chicago. No local firms entered a bid.

The contract states that copper plates will be used instead of zinc, the metal that has been employed in printing the "Circle" during the past years. The staff points out that this will assure more distinct pictures.

Plans call for at least 60 pages with a cover bearing the class colors, green and white.

This year's annual will have two new features. First, the picture of each high school student will appear individually instead of being combined in a class picture. Second, a literary and arts staff has been selected to write the articles.

Incorporating these new features, the annual staff comprised of Horace Gilmore, Elsie Brehmer, Otis Mader, and Lydia Given, promises a better and different yearbook this year.

Local merchants are again asked to advertise.

ENGLISH HONORARY CLUB HAS MEETING

The second regular meeting of the E. M. S. was held at the high school building Monday evening.

Reports on the novel, "Lost Horizon" by James Milton, the short story, "Blue Milk" by Booth Tarkington and the poem "Soldier, Rest" by Sir Walter Scott were given by Ann Denman, Elsie Ann Brehmer, and Marie Briner, respectively.

A committee composed of Anne Vlerebome, chairman, Marie Briner, and Jane Littleton was appointed by the president to make plans for the annual trip of the club in the spring.

Plans for a chapel program were also discussed by the group.

A program committee comprised of Matilda Davis, Betty Sayre and Alice Griner and a food committee including Elsie Ann Brehmer, Matilda Davis, Doris Moffitt, and Jim Reichelderfer were also named.

The next meeting will be held within the next three weeks.

Jim Reichelderfer is the president of this society, Miss Hitler is its advisor.

STOOGES TO SPONSOR BANQUET MONDAY

A banquet, sponsored by the Stooze club, will be given in honor of the Circleville High School basketball team, Monday evening, February 25, at the American Hotel coffee shop.

The guests of honor include Coach Herberholz, John Styers, John Jenkins, John Griffith, Norman Coleman, Tom Kirwin, Fred Grant, George Speakman, Don Henry, and Loren Carothers.

Not only the Stoozes will be present but also all the Stooze "dads."

Jim Lyle, chairman, Walter Osborn, and John McGinnis constitute the program committee.

The banquet will start at 6:30.

STOOGES SPONSOR OUT-OF-TOWN TRIPS

The Stooze club this year has helped a great deal in encouraging trips to out-of-town basketball games. The club sponsored two of these trips this year; one to Grandview, the other to Bexley. Both trips were highly successful.

One of the largest crowds to ever attend an out-of-town game traveled to Bexley and when the Tigers appeared on the floor, they were greeted by a salvo of cheers that made them feel right at home (this was told by members of the team). The Tigers in return showed their appreciation by trouncing the highly touted Lions.

Never before, even at home games, was the cheering any louder, which proves that cheering will help a great deal in winning games.

Girl Reserve Group Sponsors Candy Sale

A candy sale was sponsored by the Music and Dramatics group of the Senior Girl Reserves Tuesday, February 19.

The profit of $2.70 will go toward the payment of the minut costumes rented by this group when they danced at the Hi-Y and Girl Reserves last joint meeting.

A new bulletin board has been placed in the library to be used for teaching the students library work and for posting interesting facts pertaining to English literature.

CLASS TOURNEY STARTED FRIDAY

Boys' Class Basketball competition got under way last night when the seniors defeated the juniors and the Freshmen went down under the onslaught of the sophomores in the preliminaries of the C. H. S. Marysville game at the C. A. C. yesterday.

Coach Herberholz selected Tom Kirwin, Fred Grant and George Speakman as senior coaches with one of these boys to be selected to coach the Freshmen team. John Jenkins and Charles Styers will coach the juniors; while Don Henry and Norman Coleman will coach the sophomores.

STUDENT OPINION

Question: What is your opinion of the proposed C. H. S. baseball team?

Russell Ward, sophomore: It is a good idea but the school has not the necessary facilities, and acquiring them will involve a great deal of expense. If the expense can be met, it will give more students a chance to participate in athletics.

Vernon Weiler, junior: Having participated in practically all sports except baseball and as a first class high school we should keep up with the athletic curricula of other schools.

Jim Moffitt, freshman: It is a good idea because there are many students who like baseball, but as for making money I don't believe it would be successful since the school has no place of its own to play and practice.

Joe Bell, senior: I think it is a good thing because it will create enthusiasm in the school and give us wider participation with other schools who have teams.

Edna Shaw, junior: I think it is fine for the National game to come into our high school and since we previously have had no baseball team it will give persons who have never participated in any other sports, a chance to show their ability in this.

TECHNICAL STAFF FOR PLAY CHOSEN

Mr. Bowen appointed the technical staff for the Junior class play, "Take My Advice" last Tuesday evening.

Evelyn Wolfe is assistant director and Ann Denman and Wilma Welch are prompters. Paul Weaver stage manager, is assisted by Verneal Thomas, John McGinnis and Willard Friley.

Jack White and Ann Thacher have charge of properties.

Jane Littleton takes care of publicity and Cecil Andrews is advertising man. The business manager is Eleanor Brown.

3 Delegates Selected To Attend Conference

The Girl Reserve conference to be held in Columbus the week-end of March 1, 2, and 3 will be attended by Virginia Caskey, Anne Vlerebome, and Dorothy Lyle, who were the delegates chosen.

One girl was selected from each hobby group of the Senior Girl Reserves, namely: Music and Dramatics, International, and Athletic and Nature group.

These girls will be guests of the Columbus Girl Reserves who will take care of lodging on Friday and Saturday nights. The registration fee is $1.50 which also takes care of lunch and dinner on Saturday. Special meetings for the advisors will also be held.

Purina Representative To Speak At H. S. Monday

"The Commercial Value of Soy Beans," will be the topic on which Mr. Ray Rowland of the Ralston-Purina Co. will speak in an assembly to be held next Monday morning.

Mr. Rowland is the manager of the Ralston-Purina plant in Circleville. He is at the present making his residence here.

The mill situated in Circleville is one of the largest in this vicinity, although they have many large food mills located in various parts of the country.

ENROLLMENT LIST

Within the last two weeks three new pupils have enrolled in our school.

Connell Director Of Festival Here

Frank Simon Selected to Lead Massed Bands in Bexley Concert

Dr. Grant Connell, president of Capitol College of Oratory and Music in Columbus, has been selected guest director for the first concert of the Fourth Annual Band Festival which is to be held in Circleville at Memorial Hall, Friday, April 26, while Dr. Frank Simon will be guest conductor for the second concert which will take place at Bexley, Friday, May 3.

The program which was selected at a meeting of the Central Ohio band association is by far the most difficult the bands have ever attempted.

In preparation for the festival a preliminary rehearsal of all the bands will be held at Bexley, Monday evening, March 4, at 7:00. Dr. Connell who has had long experience in conducting and teaching bands will be in charge. Many of our band members are planning to attend this rehearsal.

Five central Ohio schools will participate in this festival, namely: Upper Arlington, Marysville, Lancaster, Bexley, and Circleville.

GIRL RESERVES ORGANIZE BAND

An eight-piece orchestra has recently been organized by the music section of the Music and Dramatics group of the Jr. Girl Reserves. Membership of this orchestra comprises Wahnta Barnhart, Laura-gene Cook, Ruby Chalfin, Daphne Elliott, Mary Ellen Maxey, Rosemary Schriener, June West, and Bernadine Yates.

With the proceeds from a recent candy sale they hope to purchase popular music, but at present they are using Music borrowed from Mr. Zaenglein.

The dramatics section of this group in keeping with its euphonius name, presents at each social meeting a short play or some similar form of entertainment.

Song books to be used by incoming Girl Reserves are now being made by this group, as has been the custom of this particular section of the Girl Reserves for three years. Each book will be sold to new members for 10 cents.

A hay ride which will take place in early spring is now being planned.

Miss Helen Yates and Miss Hitler are the advisors of this group.

TAKE SCHOLARSHIP TESTS MARCH 23

A CORDIAL WELCOME

CIRCLEVILLE extends a cheery and cordial welcome, this weekend to the basketball teams, coaches and fans from all parts of Pickaway-co. who will attend the annual high school tournament. This is an event that is always looked forward to with a great deal of anticipation and interest throughout the county and it brings together hundreds of people, old and young, who enjoy the sport and incidental social contact.

Circleville is proud to be hosts to the boys and girls who make up the basketball teams of the various schools in the county, their families and friends. They represent every high school in the county, and in practically every home there is some one who is interested in the outcome of the various contests. Thus the influence of this annual gathering is far reaching, interesting, and mutually profitable in the formation of friendships that continue throughout the years to come.

The youngsters of today, who are taking part in these athletic contests, are our citizens of tomorrow. They represent families in all walks of life. Riches, poverty, sectarianism or social standing are neither a help nor a hindrance to the participant in high school athletics. His only qualifications are a healthy body, ability to play the game, willingness to observe rigid training rules, good conduct, scholastic standing, and good sportsmanship.

There may be some who believe that high school athletics are stressed too much, and in some instances this may be true to some extent. But we do not believe this condition exists in the schools of Pickaway-co. It is true that there is spirited rivalry, yet there is a spirit of good sportsmanship, coupled with friendliness, existing among coaches, players and fans that binds them closely together in wholesome fun and entertainment. In some communities, basketball provides practically all the available entertainment and recreation for the winter months, not only for the students themselves, but for their families and friends as well, and if they become enthusiastic it should not be a source of wonder, but of understanding.

So, on with the county tournament! May good sportsmanship prevail, and the best team win.

FAITHLESS LABOR LEADERSHIP

UNION LABOR, which seldom fails to display an aggressive spirit its interests are jeopardized in its relations with capital or with agencies of government, might with great advantage display a similar determination to protect its rights from the aggressions of the racketeers within its own fold.

The body of Thomas E. Maloy, business agent for the motion picture operators' union of Chicago, has been found in his expensive sedan, life having been ended by gangsters' bullets. His death has brought to light interesting details of his manner of living. His salary was $500 a week, but federal government inspectors estimate that his actual income from 1929 to 1932, years of distress for labor generally, was $250,000 in excess of his salary.

His scale of living was that of an Oriental rajah. One bathroom in his home cost $4,000 and the bar $5,000. A four-month tour of Europe in 1930 cost $24,000 and bank withdrawals were as high as $500,000, a considerable sum of money for the business agent of a union local to have in his personal account. The manner in which he came into possession of all this cash is explained in many ways, one of which reflects credit upon his ethical standards.

When union labor turns its affairs over to such men, who through their methods make themselves legitimate objects of suspicion, it cannot expect to enjoy general public respect and confidence. Many of the ills from which labor has suffered during recent years are attributable directly to its lack of discernment in selecting leaders and its lack of courage to denounce and dismiss them when they are revealed as grafters.

By the way, whatever became of the Joneses with whom the neighbor strove with might and main to keep up?

An historian wants to find the author of the first cowboy song, but if frontier justice was what it is reputed to have been a posse took care of his case.

Little Sister

CHAPTER 59

ONE MORE thing Lella did do before she stopped concerning herself about it all; she asked her mother-in-law elect point blank.

She only elicited a "Now, my little bride mustn't worry herself. What are big strong husbands and fussy old mothers-in-law for but to keep little brides from worrying?"

When her mother-in-law elect went playful that was that. Well, it couldn't be worse. It might be better. Lella braced herself, and went on with her daily round, occasionally running into an informal committee meeting in one house or the other where Mrs. Johnston-Hedges, like the dog in Alice, was judge and jury. Even Addison seemed a little dazed finally at the lady's interest.

"You are sure," Lella heard him say meekly one September evening, "that you don't forget my possession of the house?"

"You're wonderful!" said Addison. "I—" he looked round him at Bet, Aunt Minnie, and Mrs. Johnston-Hedges—"have never felt so completely understood and sympathized with as since I came here. I—I feel I have flowered!" His earnest, frowning young face turned to the three women, grateful and flushed.

Aunt Minnie and Bet each reached for a portfolio of him to squeeze; Aunt Minnie pressed the hand nearest her. Bet patted his knee.

"I think," said Lella, "I'll see how my dogs look by moonlight!"

As she left the room she heard her aunt's concerned voice say, "Poor child, she seems so strung up."

And Mrs. Johnston-Hedges, tolerantly, "Just girlish tremors!"

"She seemed a little self-absorbed," said Addison, who may have felt that her pats or squeezes also were necessary to a perfect score. "Not so interested in right and wrong as in her own concern."

"Ah, well, the jazz age isn't long over, we must expect most of you young people to be a little wild," said the lady with still more tolerance.

"Lella is a dear girl at heart."

For some reason none of it seemed as funny as it used to be. "I'm silly, that's what it is. I've been so used to being the good girl of the family. I can't stand competition," Lella tried to tell herself. "I really was selfish and frivolous."

She told herself, "I'll throw them overboard and be perfectly happy!" I think it wasn't my affair, because I was married and had to think of Orton. Whereas—

She stopped. She did not go to see any dogs. She undressed and went resolutely to bed, which was probably a good thing. She was prettier than over these days, at least, because she was thinner. . . . Well, this banquet was the next hurdle to take. Then the wedding. That was that. She spent four useless hours trying to plan some way of supporting herself and Aunt Minnie if she broke with Orton and the house was gone.

But there was more. You couldn't keep even such a modest kennel as hers with no place to have dogs. You couldn't do anything but marry Orton and try to be a good and grateful wife.

Jane sneaked into the room, wagging cheerfully. She wanted to spend the night on the foot of the bed.

Lella jumped out of bed and caught her in her arms, and cried and cried. Jane loved her and she loved Jane. In a whirling world Jane was the one security. Jane crawled close beside her, and Lella threw an arm over her and went to sleep.

The fortnight passed inexorably. Amid a sense of excitement that got thicker and thicker day by day, the evening of the banquet came.

The rest of the family went early. They were putting on the actual banquet in the big house on the shore that was Addison's most glorious extravagance, and which Lella had heard called variously the community house and the casino and the white elephant. She had tried not to listen when it was talked about. It was difficult.

She was to wait, of course, for Orton, who fortunately disbelieved in being early for anything. She dressed slowly, but even so, she was ready from her hair to her slippers before he came. She finally went down to the veranda to wait.

"We're a little late," Orton said, appearing rather flushed, in his dinner coat, where she waited for him on the veranda in her new yellow tulle-trimmed dress that she had gone reckless on. It threw up all her deepened summer tints, the browns and reds and ambers of her skin, the chestnut crest of her hair, the amber-brown of her long live eyes. Its lines slunk and swirled about her in a quiet simple way that spelled "important" to everybody who knew. The rest of the banqueters might be taken from the highways and byways, Lella had thought in one last spurt of feeling, but Mary Martin at least would see her perfectly dressed, from the old amber-topped comb she had managed to stick sideways at the back of her twisted short curls to the new little slippers. Orton stopped short, impressed, on the lower step.

"You'll knock 'em," said he, with a kiss marital in its possessive approval.

"Worth while wrecking the family charge account for?" asked Lella, laughing brightly.

"Sure," said Orton absently, packing her in the car with the care for her skirt that a good home training had given.

They drove over silently. She wanted to scream at him, "Why on earth are all of you taking this mad banquet so seriously? What have you got back of it? Why do you do it?" But it would do no good, she knew. She was simply in that isolated mood in which one sees—moved from the rest of a delicious world—that the emperor is in his shirt, not his customary coronation robe.

They were there; a curved sweep, with a low sea wall at its edge, was where the marsh used to be.

"They've made a good-looking place of it," Orton said, as he parked. (TO BE CONTINUED)

CONTRACT BRIDGE

TWO INTERESTING HANDS

IT IS RARE for the same player to make a top on one hand in a duplicate game, and to split a top in the next hand, as Mr. John B. Tomes did with the two hands shown today. Only North and South were vulnerable on the first hand. Both sides were vulnerable on the second hand.

Bidding went: North, Pass; East, 1-Spade; South, 2-Diamonds; West, 3-Spades; East, 4-Spades, which contract was readily fulfilled at another table, but Mr. Tomes refused to be shut out that way and bid 5-Clubs, which North shifted to 5-Diamonds.

West doubled on his 2 Aces, with an opening bid made by his partner.

South ruffed the opening lead of a spade. West made good his Ace of trumps and a single heart, allowing the declarer to fulfill his contract, doubled and vulnerable. One other South player made a similar score.

The success of the contract emphasized an important fact. It is dangerous to double a powerful suit, unless the doubler counts on his own hand and in the two adverse bid suits, within a single trick of the number required to defeat the contract. It is particularly dangerous to double when holding 4 of the suit bid by partner, as West did. Instead of counting the opening bidder for 2 defensive tricks, as usually may be done against a single suit, never count him for more than a single trick against an adverse 2-suit.

At one table East lost 100 points playing a contract of 5-Hearts. The East and West hands are difficult to play for 5-odd, either at hearts or spades.

Look over the next hand. North made a quite proper opening bid of 1-Heart (at duplicate). Before tomorrow think over what feat North and South could have

But later is was regarded as a benefit in disguise for it did much to awaken the spirit of progress in the city. HI SCHOOL WINS THRILLER

MARYSVILLE IS DEFEATED IN OVERTIME

Tigers Take Early Lead, Lose It Then Come From Behind for Victory

A thrilling climax to an in-and-out season was handed court fans Friday evening when the Tigers defeated a fighting Marysville team, 29-28, in an overtime period at the CAC.

The winning field goal was tossed by Freddie Grant, who scored 10 points in ending his scholastic career. While he will not graduate he is now in his eighth semester of work and will not be eligible next year.

The Tigers took an early lead scoring seven points before Marysville could gain possession of the ball. The first period closed, 7-3.

In the second period the Red and black increased its lead to 17-6 while all members of the team, except Johnny Griffith, pressed into service at center because of Styers' illness, hitting the hoop.

Myers Scores Ten The third period was another story with Myers, Marysville forward, getting hot and hitting the hoop five times, one right after the other. He took only five shots to make his five goals. Grant was the only Tiger who could score in this period, getting a goal and foul. The period ended with the Tigers still leading but by only four points, 20 to 16.

The fourth session was a thriller in every respect. Myers was effectively stopped by the Tiger defense but Smith, Spain and Graham crashed through to score 10 points. Near the end of the quarter Marysville led by three points but the Tigers could not be denied. Griffith was put on the spot when he was fouled while shooting and was given two tries at the hoop. The first toss fell short of the net but the second plunked through to make the score 24-26 with the Tigers still on the short end.

Jenkins' Goal Timely After the next tip-off Johnny Jenkins, who played his hardest ball game of the year, swished in a beautiful one-handed shot from the side to tie up the ball game. A moment later George Speakman had a chance to win the game with a free throw but missed the toss and the regular game ended.

After a minute's rest the teams were called together for a three minute overtime period.

Spain, Marysville guard, started the scoring with a shot from back of the foul line. Jenkins cut this by one point with a well-directed free throw then came Grant's shot from under the net. The game ended with Marysville fighting for the ball.

Two Youths Hit Neither Henry nor Styers were in uniform, both being ill.

Tom Vernia, Chillicothe football coach, officiated the fast game in nice style.

Coach Jerry Kingsmore, fiery Marysville mentor, offered alibis for the defeat even blaming the lighting system for the downfall of his team.

SENIORS, SOPHS GAIN VICTORIES Seniors and sophomores won games in high school intramural league Friday evening in preliminaries.

The upper-classmen won, 12-9, with the juniors claiming they were victims of tough breaks with Friley and Griffith both put on the varsity squad in the last week of the season.

Technical fouls decided the game between sophomores and freshmen. Both coaches went on the floor to talk to their athletes and fouls were called. The sophomores made theirs but the freshmen missed. The score was 6 to 5.

Stock Market Phrase In the United States stock market a point usually means one dollar. There is a variation according to the commodity referred to in other market reports. For example, in the cotton and coffee markets it is the one-hundredth part of a cent, and in oil, grain, sugar and pork it is one cent. If cotton goes up 200 points this is a two-cent increase in price; when grain goes up five points it goes up five cents.

EQUIPOISE IS ANITA CHOICE

Believe Twenty Grand to Provide Hardest Fight in $100,000 Event

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 23—Equipoise to win the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap today. The mighty seven-year-old C. V. Whitney champion is likely to finish up the afternoon well established as the leading money winner of all time by vanquishing the cream of the American turf. The famous American titleholder is fit to race for the king's ransom and will have no excuses to offer in case of defeat.

The absence of Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloan's Cavalcade from the California classic is much to be regretted. But, so far as horsemen are concerned, it was an unfortunate occurrence as many thought Equipoise, in his present fine physical condition, would have nothing to fear from the Brookmeade stable representative.

Mrs. Payne Whitney's Twenty Grand, seven-year-old son of St. Germans-Bonus, is the horse likely to give "Elky" his hardest race today. Twenty Grand has shown remarkable form in his recent races.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

It's tournament day and scores of fans from all over the county were doing their various chores early today endeavoring to arrive at the CAC gymnasium in time for the first game at 1 o'clock. That tilt found Darby and Monroe tangling for honors—Games were scheduled every hour during the afternoon then at 7.8 and 9 in the evening.

Much work has been done at the CAC gym by Dr. A. D. Blackburn and his aides working with Tom Drum, CAC custodian—Bleachers have been placed clear around the gymnasium, a nicely-arranged officials' table has been placed on the west side of the court, bank-boards were to be painted this morning and everything, in fact, was ready for the tourney.

Whether the tournament manager planned to follow the same custom used by the high school all season was uncertain—The foul lines have been found to be too far back from the out-of-bounds line. As a result the high school has been permitting charity tossers to stand with their feet over the foul line in order to even up the difference—Ev Landman, New Holland's genial all county tip-off man, might have an advantage in this arrangement since his gunshots would probably out-reach any others in the county.

The game fans are waiting for that between New Holland, defending champions, and Ashville, twice victor over New Holland, scheduled at 7 o'clock this evening—Nearly everyone believes the winner will go through the remainder of the tournament.

GOVERNMENT'S BABY BONDS GO ON SALE HERE MARCH 1

HAYS IS TOLD ABOUT PLANS

$1,000 Is Largest Denomination; Securities to Appeal to Small Investor

Postmaster Hulse Hays announced today that March 1 will see the appearance in Circleville of the new government baby bonds. The bonds will be offered for sale at the post office.

They are officially known as non-transferable United States Savings bonds and are in denominations of $25, $50, $100, $500 and $1,000 maturity value. They will come in registered form and will be offered for sale in all first, second and third class post offices as well as some selected fourth class offices.

The selling price of these bonds is $18.75, $37.50, $75, $375 and $750, respectively, for the five denominations. The bonds will mature in 10 years from the first day of the month in which issued.

May Be Redeemed These bonds may be redeemed prior to maturity at the redemption value stated on the face of the bonds. It will be unlawful for any person at any one time to hold savings bonds issued during any one calendar year in an aggregate amount exceeding $10,000 in maturity value.

For the purpose of purchasing savings bonds, postal certificates may be cashed at the office where the certificates were issued, without loss of interest.

Regulations There are some regulations as to cashing of these new bonds. The postal department issues the following for the guide of holders and buyers: "Payment of any savings bond at face value at maturity, or at appropriate redemption value prior to maturity (but not within 60 days after issue date), will be made following presentation and surrender of the bond, registered mail, or otherwise, at the expense and risk of the owner to the treasury department, division of loans and currency, Washington, D. C., or to any Federal Reserve bank, with the request for payment appearing on the back of the bond, duly executed by the owner and certified by any United States postmaster from whom United States saving bonds may be purchased, (authenticated by the imprint of his post office dating stamp by an executive officer or an incorporated bank, or trust company (authenticated by the corporate seal of the institution), or by any other person duly designated by the Secretary of the Treasury, for the purpose. Payment will be made by check drawn to the order of the owner.

For Safekeeping "Any savings bond will be held in safe keeping by the secretary of the treasury if the purchaser so desires, and in this connection, the secretary will utilize the facilities of Federal Reserve banks as the agents of the United States. The purchaser may arrange with any postmaster at the time of purchase, or subsequently for such safekeeping. "Treasury department circulars governing the issue and other data concerning savings bonds will shortly be furnished all postmasters for their information and for the convenience of the public."

see how Mrs. Thurn mixes, stirs and beats while she talks. Dishes go into the oven and out again. She will make a gorgeous salad one day, ice a cake, make a meltingly good pie, turn out a roast worthy of the finest chef in the land.

"The women of Circleville are urged to bring their housekeeping problems, especially their cooking questions to the Cooking School," said Mrs. Thurn in an interview about the School.

As a setting for the cooking demonstrations a kitchen is being constructed on the stage of Memorial hall. It is to be a real kitchen with the range attached and working, a refrigerator, kitchen cabinet, work tables, and all the small necessary utensils needed by Mrs. Thurn in her work. She will talk from the midst of this kitchen, making new dishes at the same time. Each day's program is different, filled with valuable, new information, suggestions, helps and ideas for housekeepers of every kind.

The brides of Circleville are especially invited for Mrs. Thurn feels that these new housekeepers will find the demonstrations unusually helpful and every discussion full of ideas which will solve the bothersome problems of a new kitchen and new duties.

RELIEF PLANS OF PRESIDENT APPEAR LOST

Enactment Of Dole System For Another Year Is Planned

WAGE RATE FOUGHT

Believe House May Kill McCarren Move

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Administration leaders of the senate moved toward a temporary abandonment of President Roosevelt's $4,000,000,000 work relief program today to concentrate on prompt enactment of a $1,880,000,000 fund for continuing the dole another year.

This was the apparent purpose of the administration's maneuvers, which climaxed in recommending the bill to the senate appropriations committee. It came as a result of the president's defeat on the McCarran amendment, which ordered the government to continue its historical custom of paying "prevailing rates of wages" on federal projects, even though the average worker's wages were held to a $50 monthly total by limiting his working hours.

Fear House Move
The administration's tactics were viewed with alarm by organized labor leaders, who feared some parliamentary move would be made to revive the work relief program without including the McCarran amendment. This might be accomplished by passing a direct relief bill in the senate and then adding the work program, without the McCarran amendment, in conference with the house.

Senator McCarran (D) of Nevada, author of the amendment, issued a biting warning against such a move. He virtually threatened to launch a senate filibuster to kill the bill entirely if the administration adopted such tactics.

Would End Dole
The bill originally proposed a $4,880,000,000 appropriation. Of this sum, $4,000,000,000 would have gone for relief projects and but $880,000,000 for direct relief. It was the administration's plan to terminate the Dole by next December by transferring all persons from relief rolls to work projects.

SHORT NAMES THREE AIDES

Tipton to Succeed Krinn as Chief Deputy; Office Changes Hands Mar. 11

Forrest Short, Wayne-twp. who becomes Pickaway-co. auditor March 11 succeeding Clifford M. White, today announced three of his appointees.

They are:
Fred L. Tipton, Williamsport, as chief deputy, the position now held by Thomas D. Krinn.

Mark Armstrong, W. Mound-st., as a clerk, taking the position now filled by Mrs. Frank Littleton.

John Messick, Ashville, as a clerk, taking the position now occupied by Leo White.

Tipton is publisher of the Williamsport News, a director of the Williamsport Farmer's bank, and one of the leading citizens of his community and should make a splendid deputy auditor.

One position remains to be filled, that of deputy sealer of weights and measures now held by Claude Ader, Perry-twp. Mr. Short is not yet ready to announce his selection of that office.

When the Wayne-twp. man assumes office he will be the first Republican to hold the auditor's job since before 1900.

DEFENSE PROGRAM PASSED BY HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Congress today completed the first step towards the largest national defense program in recent years as the house passed and sent to the senate the $378,699,488 war department appropriation bill.

Carrying funds for operation of the military establishment for the 1936 fiscal year, the measure also authorizes the president to increase the enlisted strength of the army from 118,750 to 165,000 men.

While no specific amount is allotted for this purpose the bill authorizes the president to draw on an indefinite appropriation to meet the expenses of the increase.

"Wall Street's Honest Man" Violently Insane

Greges, Who Found and Returned $42,000 In Negotiable Bonds, Declares He Is God; Lodger Looks At Writhing Figure Then Dies

NEW YORK, Feb. 23.—Frank Greges, sixty-seven year old "sandwich man," who a few weeks ago was catapulted into the nation's headlines, and comparative fortune, as the "Honest Man of Wall Street" by turning in to police a wallet containing $12,000 in negotiable securities, was violently insane today.

The hitherto mild, unassuming little man threw his bowery lodging house into an uproar late last night when he flung himself writhing and moaning upon the floor, and in stentorian tones proclaimed he was "God."

He raved that he was deity himself, that those upon whom he cast his "fatal" glance, died. That he had looked upon only three men fatally that day.

Lodger Falls Dead
In the midst of this pathetic scene, Robert E. Edwards, of Los Angeles, an itinerant lodger at the hotel, tripped blithely up the stairs, took one look at the sobbing figure upon the floor, gasped—and fell dead!

As Edwards fell dead before his eyes, Greges renewed his maniacal rantings, and struggled with superhuman strength against the restraining hands of the night clerk at the hotel, and several other lodgers. One man ran for the police.

One patrolman answered the summons, but despite the assistance of several able-bodied men, was unable to cope with the madman.

Finally, with the help of three more policemen, and the concerted efforts of the helping lodgers, Greges was maneuvered down the stairs. One of the volunteer bouncers was thrown headlong down the entire flight in the melee.

At the police station, Greges was restored to comparative calmness, and insisted upon a new spelling of his name, "Gregoris."

Received Much Mail
The clerk at the lodging house said the man had received a steady stream of mail since his advent in the headlines, most of which contained money. He had received some $200 in this manner.

Following his return of the securities, "Gregoris" received countless offers of aid. Belden & Co., to whom the securities belonged, offered him a temporary job as a runner at $70 a month.

The company insuring the negotiables contributed, also to the landfall of "wealth" showered upon the "honest man," as did many private citizens.

HAUPTMANN FUND REACHES $10,000
TRENTON, N. J., Feb. 23.—Public contributions for the defense fund of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, convicted slayer of the Lindbergh baby, have reached a new high of $10,000, according to C. Lloyd Fisher, Flemington counsel for the Bronx carpenter.

Fisher declared today that the defense would require about $25,000 in all.

Since the state has already agreed to pay the primary cost of printing the record of the transcript of Hauptmann's trial, Fisher was asked why all this money would be required.

"There will be plenty of things to pay for with this money," he answered enigmatically.

Word from the death house of the Trenton state prison, where Hauptmann is confined, today, revealed he had requested his wife to bring a Lutheran minister with her in her next visit to the prison.

KIWANIANS TO HEAR MISS WILDER SPEAK

KENNAMER TO LEARN FATE

Judge to Pronounce Sentence; Four to 99 Years in Prison Possible

PAWNEE, Okla., Feb. 23.—Nineteen-year-old Phil Kennamer nervously paced his county jail cell today waiting to be formally sentenced as the convicted killer of John F. Gorrell, Jr., Kansas City dental student.

Kennamer was scheduled to be taken before Judge Thurman Hurst this afternoon for sentencing on a conviction of manslaughter returned by a jury Thursday night at the close of an eleven day trial.

The young son of Federal Judge Franklin E. Kennamer may be given a prison sentence ranging from four to 99 years. Prosecutor Holly Anderson said he would ask a sentence of at least 50 years imprisonment.

Young Kennamer, said by alienists to be a dreamer of strange dreams and the addict of odd fancies, confessed shooting Gorrell to death in Tulsa last Thanksgiving night. He said he was forced to kill the student during a struggle for Gorrell's gun caused when Kennamer tried to dissuade his pal from carrying out a kidnap-extortion plot against pretty Virginia Wilcox, heiress to a Tulsa oil fortune.

Before sentence is passed today on Kennamer his attorneys are expected to introduce a motion for a new trial. A. Flint Moss, chief of defense counsel, said he will make an appeal if necessary.

PRISONER FALLS, KILLED IN JAIL

LANCASTER, Feb. 23.—City authorities today launched an investigation into the death of Harry Porce, 55, who was fatally injured in the city jail when he fell from a bench after he had been arrested on charges of alleged drunkenness.

2 Youths Unhurt In Triple Crash

Two well known youths, Lutz Ashbrook and George Dies, narrowly escaped serious injury at 1:30 a. m. Saturday when the former's Ford car struck the rear end of a north-bound coal truck on the Scioto trail then swerved in front of a south-bound automobile.

Ashbrook was driving north

when he ran against the rear-end of the truck driven by Max Russell, of Columbus. Russell's wife was with him. As the Ashbrook car struck the truck Ashbrook turned the wheels and the car went into the middle of the road. It had come to a stop before Tom Stevens, member of the highway patrol located at Wilmington, crashed his car into the Ashbrook Ford. Stevens told Sheriff Charles Radcliff, who investigated with Deputy Bob Armstrong, that the lights on the Ashbrook auto confused him so much that he could not tell which way to go.

How Ashbrook came to drive against the coal truck could not be determined by the sheriff. The youth said he didn't see the truck until a few seconds before the crash occurred.

No one was injured but Ashbrook's car was badly damaged. He lives near Yellowbud while Dies, an employee of the Hardon Stevenson garage, lives here.

ASHVILLE, Feb. 22.—Homer Friday, while working at the Sinclair Oil station grounds, corner Long and Wright-sts., found a brick bearing the name of Charles Jeffries, which had a place in the walls of the Ashville hotel erected in 1881. It will be remembered by some old Ashville residents that the Jeffries family resided here more than a half century ago living on N. Lomb-st.

Frank Jeffries, an older brother of Charles, was a clerk in the general store of the late George C. Morrison, of E. Mound-st. now owned and operated by D. H. Ebert. A sister, Mrs. Elizabeth, at one time was assistant in the post office while another sister, Elva, was a teacher in the local schools and is now the wife of Edward M. Hines and resides in Columbus.

Charles Jeffries, the subject of this article, removed to Columbus with the family many years ago.

UNDERWOOD'S SOLDIER BILL IS CONSIDERED

11th District Representative Called For Interview By FDR

RECODIFIES LAWS

Abolition Of Present Bureau Is Favored

A plan of Congressman Mel G. Underwood, of the 11th Ohio district, to replace the present unbalanced system of soldiers' pensions benefits is being given careful consideration by President Roosevelt.

Friday, the president summoned Mr. Underwood to the White House to discuss his bill introduced to repeal all existing laws on veterans' relief, recodify them in a single statute, correct inequalities, abolish the present veterans' administration and transfer the activities to a new bureau under the treasury department.

The present system of pensions has grown up in laws dating as far back as 1862.

Abolish Two Offices
Regional offices of the veterans' bureau now operated in Cleveland and Cincinnati would be abolished and all work for this district would be done in a new central office.

Underwood's bill sets up permanent schedules for service-connected disabilities and provides for non-service connected disability compensation based on the age of the veteran. Hospitalization is provided for permanently disabled veterans with six months' active service. The bill includes provision for a joint committee of house and senate to be created in place of the four committees now dealing in veterans' affairs. The work of the new committee would be to supervise operation of the system.

Benefits in certain classes would be increased the representative says but he contends the additional expense would be offset by the savings in centralized management.

35,000 on Payrolls
During the last year the present veterans' administration had 35,000 employees and paid $55,810,000 in salaries, more than 10 per cent of its disbursement in benefits.

Useless overhead, expenses and salaries to high-priced lawyers, physicians and swivel-chair officers were cited by Underwood.

STOCK NUMBERS DOWN, VALUE UP
For First Time Every Species Decreased In Numbers During Year

For the first time on record, the numbers of farm livestock of every species decreased during the year, in 1934, according to the monthly summary of farm conditions published by the department of rural economics at the Ohio State University.

But, adds the summary, in the same period there was an increase in total value of each species as inventoried on January 1, 1935.

Even of horses and mules, of which there is said to be a shortage, there is a decline recorded for the year. It was 1 1/2 per cent.

Decline in hog numbers, owing to drought and the government's adjustment program, was 35 per cent. In cattle, owing to the government's purchase program for relief purposes in drought areas, the decline was 11 per cent. The report states there are 6 per cent fewer dairy cattle, and 5 per cent fewer sheep.

Total value of all livestock on farms on January 1 was $3,104,000,000, a gain of a quarter billion dollars. Value per head for each species had risen enough during the year to offset the decrease in numbers.

Greatest gain in value per head was noted for hogs, the least for sheep.

One of the most interesting signs of the times is the recognition given to the Leadership of Jesus Christ. In India you hear, "What India needs is Christ". In China you hear, "What China needs is Christ". And so the world around. It is only Christian nations who are relinquishing their hold on "Christ". But that is a passing stage in their affairs. There will be a reaction. No dictatorship, however potent today can hold out tomorrow. The human heart cries out after God. We can save our country from the bitter experiences of blood-shed, tyrannous dictatorship if we loyally follow the way of Christ. The church teaches His way. Go to church tomorrow. Take a friend.

The Church Invites You

SCIENCE AND BUSINESS

John Scott Haldane, a great scientist says "If we lose sight of this spiritual world we have lost sight of what is alone ultimately real in ourselves. We are not realizing ourselves. Science is not enough. Reason in its highest form as religion and real religion, extending into every part of our lives, is what as it seems to me the world has most need of."

A business man has said, "Without the guiding influence of religion and the power it has over mankind, this nation would soon sink into barbarism and no business in it would be safe. Eliminate from any community the churches that are in it and property of all kinds would be practically worthless and the bats and the owls would soon take possession of the city. Why not accept the invitation and COME TO CHURCH NEXT SUNDAY?"

Lesson for February 24

PETER HEALS A LAME MAN

LESSON TEXT—ACTS 3:1-12. GOLDEN TEXT—Thou Peter said, Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have give I thee. In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth rise up and walk. Acts 3:6.

MEMORY VERSE—How Peter Healed a Lame Man. ACTS 3:1-12. Peter, Carrying on Jesus' Work.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—A Healing Hand. VERSE—POUR IN. ADULT TOPIC—GIFTS THAT ARE BETTER THAN MONEY.

In the teaching of this lesson it will be necessary to include all the material in Acts 3:1 to 4:31.

I. Peter Healing the Lame Man (Acts 3:1-12).

1. The place (vv. 1, 2). It was at the gate called Beautiful, which leads from the outer to the inner court of the temple.

2. The man (v. 2). This beggar was infirm from his birth. When he saw Peter and John, he asked alms.

3. The method (vv. 3-5). a. Gaining the man's attention (v. 4). Peter and John commanded him to look on them, but not because they had any power within themselves.

b. Peter commanded him in the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth to rise and walk (v. 6). He had been unable to do this all his life, but with the command went the ability to do.

c. Peter took him by the right hand (v. 7). This act was meant to give impetus to his faith, not strength to his ankles.

4. The man's response (v. 8). Strength came into his feet and ankle bones at once. He stood, he walked, he leaped, and praised God.

5. The effect (vv. 9-11). The people were filled with amazement.

a. This helpless beggar had to be carried to the temple gate. Men and women out of Christ are so helpless that they need to be brought where the life of God can be applied to them.

b. Peter, in taking the man by the hand, shows the manner of helping the lost. While ministers and Sunday school teachers of themselves have nothing to give to the lost, they have the dispensing of the gospel of Christ.

II. Peter Witnessing Before the Multitude (Acts 3:12-26).

He told them it was faith in Jesus Christ, whom God had glorified and whom they had deliberately betrayed and crucified, that had healed this man. Despite their awful guilt, he appealed to them to repent (v. 19). God would pardon them if they would repent, and refreshing seasons would come to them when God should send back Jesus Christ to the earth to consummate the work of redemption.

III. Peter in Prison for Christ's Sake (Acts 4:1-14).

1. The leaders in this persecution (vv. 1, 2). Both priests and Sadducees joined in this wickedness. The priests were intolerant because these new teachers were encroaching upon their functions. The Sadducees joined the priests because they did not believe in the resurrection, which was a vital part of the apostolic teaching.

2. The result (vv. 3, 4). Peter and John were arrested and imprisoned. Though the witnesses were held in bondage by chains, Christ was not bound. The number of believers had greatly increased, so that there were now about five thousand.

IV. Peter Witnessing Before the Sanhedrin (Acts 4:15-22).

1. The inquiry (vv. 15, 16). They inquired as to by what power and name they had wrought this miracle.

2. Peter's answer (vv. 8-12). With stinging sarcasm he showed them that they were not on trial as evil-doers, but for doing good to the helpless and needy man. Since they could not deny the miracle, he boldly declared that it had been done in the name of Christ, and that the only way for them to escape God's judgment was to believe on his name.

3. The impression upon the Sanhedrin (vv. 13-15).

a. They marvelled (v. 13). They were made conscious that they were on trial instead of sitting as judges upon Peter and John.

b. They took knowledge that Peter and John had been with Jesus (v. 15).

c. They forbade them to speak in Christ's name (v. 18).

d. Peter and John expressed their determination to obey God rather than man (vv. 19, 20).

e. Their release (v. 21). Seeing that the people were on the side of the apostles they had no way to punish them.

V. The Church at Prayer (vv. 23-31).

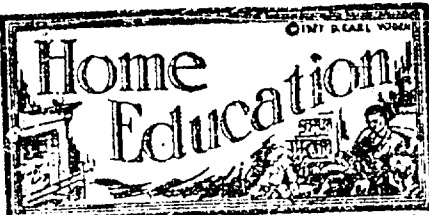

They praised God for deliverance and prayed for boldness to speak the Word of God.

Why Burden Ourselves?
The story is told of a knight who was going travelling one day and he thought it wise to provide himself against every emergency. So he put a mousetrap in his pocket, lest he be troubled with mice. He threw a beehive over his shoulders, lest he be pestered with bees. He put a mosquito net in his satchel lest he be annoyed with mosquitoes. And, in the end, he had such a load that he could not carry it. This is a parable of life. We burden ourselves with so many elements of prevention that the load becomes impossible. We gather up so many difficulties that work becomes a disabling dudgeon. The art of life is to find joy in our work, so it may become easy. If our work is hard, it is because there is anxiety and friction.

Middle age is that time of life when we are old enough to know better and young enough to keep on doing it anyway.

Printing Contract For Annual Is Let

Chicago Engravers Receive Job, Local Firms Decline to Bid

The contract for the printing of the 1935 yearbook was let Tuesday to the Jahn and Ollier company of Chicago. No local firms entered a bid.

The contract states that copper plates will be used instead of zinc, the metal that has been employed in printing the "Circle" during the past years. The staff points out that this will assure more distinct pictures.

Plans call for at least 60 pages with a cover bearing the class colors, green and white.

This year's annual will have two new features. First, the picture of each high school student will appear individually instead of being combined in a class picture. Second, a literary and arts staff has been selected to write the articles.

Incorporating these new features, the Annual staff comprised of Horace Gilmore, Elsie Brehmer, Otis Mader, and Lydia Given, promises a better and different yearbook this year.

Local merchants are again asked to advertise.

ENGLISH HONORARY CLUB HAS MEETING

The second regular meeting of the E. M. S. was held at the high school building Monday evening.

Reports on the novel, "Lost Horizon" by James Milton, the short story, "Blue Milk" by Booth Tarkington and the poem "Soldier, Rest" by Sir Walter Scott were given by Ann Denman, Elsie Ann Brehmer, and Marie Briner, respectively.

A committee composed of Anne Vlerbome, chairman, Marie Briner, and Jane Littleton was appointed by the president to make plans for the annual trip of the club in the spring.

Plans for a chapel program were also discussed by the group.

A program committee comprised of Matilda Davis, Betty Sayre and Alice Griner and a food committee including Elsie Ann Brehmer, Matilda Davis, Doris Moffitt, and Jim Reichelderfer were also named.

The next meeting will be held within the next three weeks.

Jim Reichelderfer is the president of this society, Miss Hitler is its advisor.

STOOGES TO SPONSOR BANQUET MONDAY

A banquet, sponsored by the Stooze club, will be given in honor of the Circleville High School basketball team, Monday evening, February 25, at the American Hotel coffee shop.

The guests of honor include Coach Herberholz, John Styers, John Jenkins, John Griffith, Norman Coleman, Tom Kirwin, Fred Grant, George Speakman, Don Henry, and Loren Carothers.

Not only the Stoozes will be present but also all the Stooze "dads."

Jim Lyle, chairman, Walter Osborn, and John McGinnis constitute the program committee.

The banquet will start at 6:30.

STOOGES SPONSOR OUT-OF-TOWN TRIPS

The Stooze club this year has helped a great deal in encouraging trips to out-of-town basketball games. The club sponsored two of these trips this year; one to Grandview, the other to Bexley. Both trips were highly successful.

One of the largest crowds to ever attend an out-of-town game traveled to Bexley and when the Tigers appeared on the floor, they were greeted by a salvo of cheers that made them feel right at home. This was told by members of the team. The Tigers in return showed their appreciation by trouncing the highly touted Lions.

Never before, even at home games, was the cheering any louder, which proves that cheering will help a great deal in winning games.

Girl Reserve Group Sponsors Candy Sale

A candy sale was sponsored by the Music and Dramatics group of the Senior Girl Reserves Tuesday, February 19.

The profit of $2.70 will go toward the payment of the minut costumes lent by this group when they danced at the Hi-Y and Girl Reserves last joint meeting.

A new bulletin board has been placed in the library to be used for teaching the students library work and for posting interesting facts pertaining to English literature.

CLASS TOURNEY STARTED FRIDAY

Boys' Class Basketball competition got under way last night when the seniors defeated the juniors and the Freshmen went down under the onslaught of the sophomores in the preliminaries of the C. H. S. Marysville game at the C. A. C. yesterday.

Coach Herberholz selected Tom Kirwin, Fred Grant and George Speakman as senior coaches with one of these boys to be selected to coach the Freshmen team. John Jenkins and Charles Styers will coach the juniors; while Don Henry and Norman Coleman will coach the sophomores.

STUDENT OPINION

Question: What is your opinion of the proposed C. H. S. basketball team?

Russell Ward, sophomore: It is a good idea but the school has not the necessary facilities, and acquiring them will involve a great deal of expense. If the expense can be met, it will give more students a chance to participate in athletics.

Vernon Weiler, junior: Having participated in practically all sports except baseball and as a first class high school we should keep up with the athletic curricula of other schools.

Jim Moffitt, freshman: It is a good idea because there are many students who like baseball, but as for making money I don't believe it would be a success since the school has no place of its own to play and practice.

Joe Bell, senior: I think it is a good thing because it will create enthusiasm in the school and give us wider participation with other schools who have teams.

Edna Shaw, junior: I think it is fine for the National game to come into our high school and since we previously have had no baseball team it will give persons who have never participated in any other sports, a chance to show their ability in this.

TECHNICAL STAFF FOR PLAY CHOSEN

Mr. Bowen appointed the technical staff for the Junior class play, "Take My Advice" last Tuesday evening.

Evelyn Wolfe is assistant director and Ann Denman and Wilma Welch are prompters. Paul Weaver stage manager, is assisted by Verneal Thomas, John McGinnis and Willard Friley.

Jack White and Ann Thacher have charge of properties.

Jane Littleton takes care of publicity and Cecil Andrews is advertising man. The business manager is Eleanor Brown.

3 Delegates Selected To Attend Conference

The Girl Reserve conference to be held in Columbus the week-end of March 1, 2, and 3 will be attended by Virginia Caskey, Anne Vlerbome, and Dorothy Lyle, who were the delegates chosen.

One girl was selected from each hobby group of the Senior Girl Reserves, namely: Music and Dramatics, International, and Athletic and Nature group.

These girls will be guests of the Columbus Girl Reserves who will take care of lodging on Friday and Saturday nights. The registration fee is $1.50 which also takes care of lunch and dinner on Saturday. Special meetings for the advisors will also be held.

Purina Representative To Speak At H. S. Monday

"The Commercial Value of Soy Beans," will be the topic on which Mr. Ray Rowland of the Ralston-Purina Co. will speak in an assembly to be held next Monday morning.

Mr. Rowland is the manager of the Ralston-Purina plant in Circleville, H. is at the present making his residence here.

ENROLLMENT LIST

Within the last two weeks three new pupils have enrolled in our school.

A basketball team is being organized by the Athletic and Nature group of the Senior Girl Reserves.

Connell Director Of Festival Here

Frank Simon Selected to Lead Massed Bands in Bexley Concert

Dr. Grant Connell, president of Capital College of Oratory and Music in Columbus, has been selected guest director for the first concert of the Fourth Annual Band Festival which is to be held in Circleville at Memorial Hall, Friday, April 26, while Dr. Frank Simon will be guest conductor for the second concert which will take place at Bexley, Friday, May 3.

The program which was selected at a meeting of the Central Ohio band association is by far the most difficult the bands have ever attempted.

In preparation for the festival a preliminary rehearsal of all the bands will be held at Bexley, Monday evening, March 4, at 7:00. Dr. Connell who has had long experience in conducting and teaching bands will be in charge. Many of our band members are planning to attend this rehearsal.

Five central Ohio schools will participate in this festival, namely: Upper Arlington, Marysville, Lancaster, Bexley, and Circleville.

GIRL RESERVES ORGANIZE BAND

An eight-piece orchestra has recently been organized by the music section of the Music and Dramatics group of the Jr. Girl Reserves. Membership of this orchestra comprises Wahnta Barnhart, Laura-gene Cook, Ruby Chalfin, Daphne Elliott, Mary Ellen Maxey, Rosemary Schriener, June West, and Benadine Yates.

With the proceeds from a recent candy sale they hope to purchase popular music, but at present they are using music borrowed from Mr. Zaenglein.

The dramatics section of this group in keeping with its euphonium name, presents at each social meeting a short play or some similar form of entertainment.

Song books to be used by incoming Girl Reserves are now being made by this group, as has been the custom of this particular section of the Girl Reserves for three years. Each book will be sold to new members for 10 cents.

A hay ride which will take place in early spring is now being planned.

Miss Helen Yates and Miss Hitler are the advisors of this group.

Marian Martin Patterns
Complete Diagrammed Marian Martin Sew Chart Included.
PATTERN 9259
"See my new dress?" isn't it precious? Those buttons are "just pretending"—they don't really do a thing but serve as a trim, and they can be just as bright as a little girl likes them, so as to accentuate the brand new yoke line which Marian Martin designed especially for this new season. It sweeps from shoulders to bodice center, then dashes off to outline the inverted plat at the skirt. Little gathers where the dress joins the yoke make more fullness and a pretty detail. It's a dress that can be a little "toughie" for play, or made of sheerer materials for dress-up. Sleeves may flare instead of puff. Bloomers included.
Pattern 9259 may be ordered only in sizes 2, 4, 6 and 8. Size 4 requires 2 1-2 yards 36 inch fabric.
Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE

A CORDIAL WELCOME

CIRCLEVILLE extends a cheery and cordial welcome, this weekend to the basketball teams, coaches and fans from all parts of Pickaway-co. who will attend the annual high school tournament. This is an event that is always looked forward to with a great deal of anticipation and interest throughout the county and it brings together hundreds of people, old and young, who enjoy the sport and incidental social contact.

Circleville is proud to be hosts to the boys and girls who make up the basketball teams of the various schools in the county, their families and friends. They represent every high school in the county, and in practically every home there is some one who is interested in the outcome of the various contests. Thus the influence of this annual gathering is far reaching, interesting, and mutually profitable in the formation of friendships that continue throughout the years to come.

The youngsters of today, who are taking part in these athletic contests, are our citizens of tomorrow. They represent families in all walks of life. Riches, poverty, sectarianism or social standing are neither a help nor a hindrance to the participant in high school athletics. His only qualifications are a healthy body, ability to play the game, willingness to observe rigid training rules, good conduct, scholastic standing, and good sportsmanship.

There may be some who believe that high school athletics are stressed too much, and in some instances this may be true to some extent. But we do not believe this condition exists in the schools of Pickaway-co. It is true that there is spirited rivalry, yet there is a spirit of good sportsmanship, coupled with friendliness, existing among coaches, players and fans that binds them closely together in wholesome fun and entertainment. In some communities, basketball provides practically all the available entertainment and recreation for the winter months, not only for the students themselves, but for their families and friends as well, and if it becomes enthusiastic it should not be a source of wonder, but of understanding.

So, on with the county tournament! May good sportsmanship prevail, and the best team win.

FAITHLESS LABOR LEADERSHIP

UNION LABOR, which seldom fails to display an aggressive spirit, its interests are jeopardized in its relations with capital or with agencies of government, might with great advantage display a similar determination to protect its rights from the aggression of the racketeers within its own fold.

The body of Thomas E. Maloy, business agent for the motion picture operators' union of Chicago, has been found in his expensive sedan, life having been ended by gangsters' bullets. His death has brought to light interesting details of his manner of living. His salary was $500 a week, but federal government inspectors estimate that his actual income from 1929 to 1932, years of distress for labor generally, was $250,000 in excess of his salary.

His scale of living was that of an Oriental rajah. One bathroom in his home cost $4,000 and the bar $5,000. A four-month tour of Europe in 1930 cost $24,000 and bank withdrawals were as high as $500,000, a considerable sum of money for the business agent of a union local to have in his personal account. The manner in which he came into possession of all this cash is explained in many ways, one of which reflects credit upon his ethical standards.

When union labor turns its efforts over to such men, who through their methods make themselves legitimate objects of suspicion, it cannot expect to enjoy general public respect or a confidence. Many of the ills from which labor has suffered during recent years are attributable directly to its lack of government in leading leaders and its lack of courage to denounce and disavow them when they are revealed as grafters.

By the way, whatever became of the forces with whom the neighbor strove with might and main to keep up?

An historian wants to find the author of the first cowboy song, but if frontier justice was what it is reputed to have been a posse took care of his case.

Osaka, says a scientist, is the heaviest distance known. That must be what the doughnut's pack was packed with in France toward the end of a 20 kilometer hike.

Little Sister

BY MARGARET WIDDERMER

CHAPTER 53

ONE MORE thing left to do before she stopped concerning herself about it all; she asked her mother-in-law about point blank.

She only elicited a "Now, my little bride mustn't worry herself. What are big strong husbands and fussy old mothers-in-law for but to keep little brides from worrying?"

When her mother-in-law elect went playful that was that. Well, it couldn't be worse. It might be better. Leila braced herself and went on with her daily round, somewhat differently run into an informal committee meeting in one house or the other where Mrs. Johnston-Hedges, like the dog in Alice, was judge and jury. Even Addison seemed a little dazed finally at the help's interest.

"You are sure," Leila heard him say meekly one September evening, "that you don't forget my possession of enough votes to swing over the Manor house to the Independents? Because, much as I appreciate your kindness toward me, I'm still trying to free your bench for all the Fernwoods."

"Quite sure," said the lady, with a motherly pat of Addison's hand, lying on the long old living room table where they were all grouped around. He had plumper hands than Leila. Aunt Minnie had taken his feeding in charge. "We are friendly enemies, that's understood, dear boy."

"You're wonderful," said Addison. "I've looked round him at Bet, Aunt Minnie, and Mrs. Johnston-Hedges—have never felt so completely understood and sympathized with as since I came here. I—I feel I have flowered." His earnest, frowning young face turned to the three women, grateful and flushed. Aunt Minnie and Bet each reached for a portion of him to squeeze; Aunt Minnie pressed the hand nearest her. Bet patted his knee.

"I think," said Leila, "I'll see how my dogs look by moonlight." As she left the room she heard her aunt's contented sigh. "Poor child, she seems so strung up." And Mrs. Johnston-Hedges, tolerantly, "Just prish tremors!" "She seemed a little self-absorbed," said Addison, who may have felt that her pats or squeezes also were necessary to a perfect score. "Not so much when it was talked about. It interested in it and wrong as in her own emotions."

"Ah, well, the past age isn't long over, we must expect most of you young people to be a little wild," said Leila with still more tolerance. "Leila is a good girl at heart."

For some time now it seemed as though she had to wait.

"The way, that's what it is. I've been so used to being the proud girl of the house, I can't stand competition," Leila tried to tell herself. "I really was selfish and frivolous."

She sent to a maid, "I'll throw them over and be perfectly happy!" "I think it would be very nice," Leila was smiling and had to think of Orton.

She stopped. She did not go to see any dogs. She undressed and went resolutely to bed, which was probably a good thing. She was pretty tired over these days, at least, because she was thinner.

Well, the banquet was the next hurdle to take. Then the wedding. That was that. She spent four useless hours trying to plan some way of supporting herself and Aunt Minnie if she broke with Orton and the house was gone.

That there was none. You couldn't keep even such a modest household as hers with no place to have dogs. You couldn't do anything but marry Orton and try to be a good and grateful wife.

Jane sneaked into the room, watching cheerfully. She wanted to spend the night on the foot of the bed.

Leila jumped out of bed and caught her in her arms, and cried and cried. Jane loved her and she loved Jane. In a whirling world Jane was the one security.

Jane crawled close beside her, and Leila threw an arm over her and went to sleep.

The fortnight passed inexorably. Amid a sense of excitement that got thicker and thicker day by day, the evening of the banquet came.

The rest of the family went early. They were putting on the actual banquet in the big house on the shore that was Addison's most glorious extravaganza, and which Leila had heard called variously the community house and the casino and the white elephant. She had tried not to think when it was talked about. It interested in it and wrong as in her own emotions."

She was to wait, of course, for Orton, who fortunately disbelieved in being early for anything. She dressed slowly, but even so, she was ready from her hair to her slippers before he came. She finally went down to the veranda to wait.

"We're a little late," Orton said, appearing rather flushed, in his dinner coat, where she waited for him on the veranda in her new yellow tulle-satin that she had gone to the store on. It threw up all her beloved summer tints, the browns and reds and ambers of her skin, the chestnut crest of her hair, the under-blown of her long live eyes.

His lines slunk and swirled about her in a quiet simple way that spelled "import" to everybody who knew. The rest of the banqueters might be taken from the highways and byways, Leila had thought in one last sport of feeling, but Mary Martin at least would see her perfectly dressed, from the old amber-topped comb she had managed to stick sideways at the back of her swirled short curls, to the new little slippers.

Orton stopped short, impressed, on the lower steps.

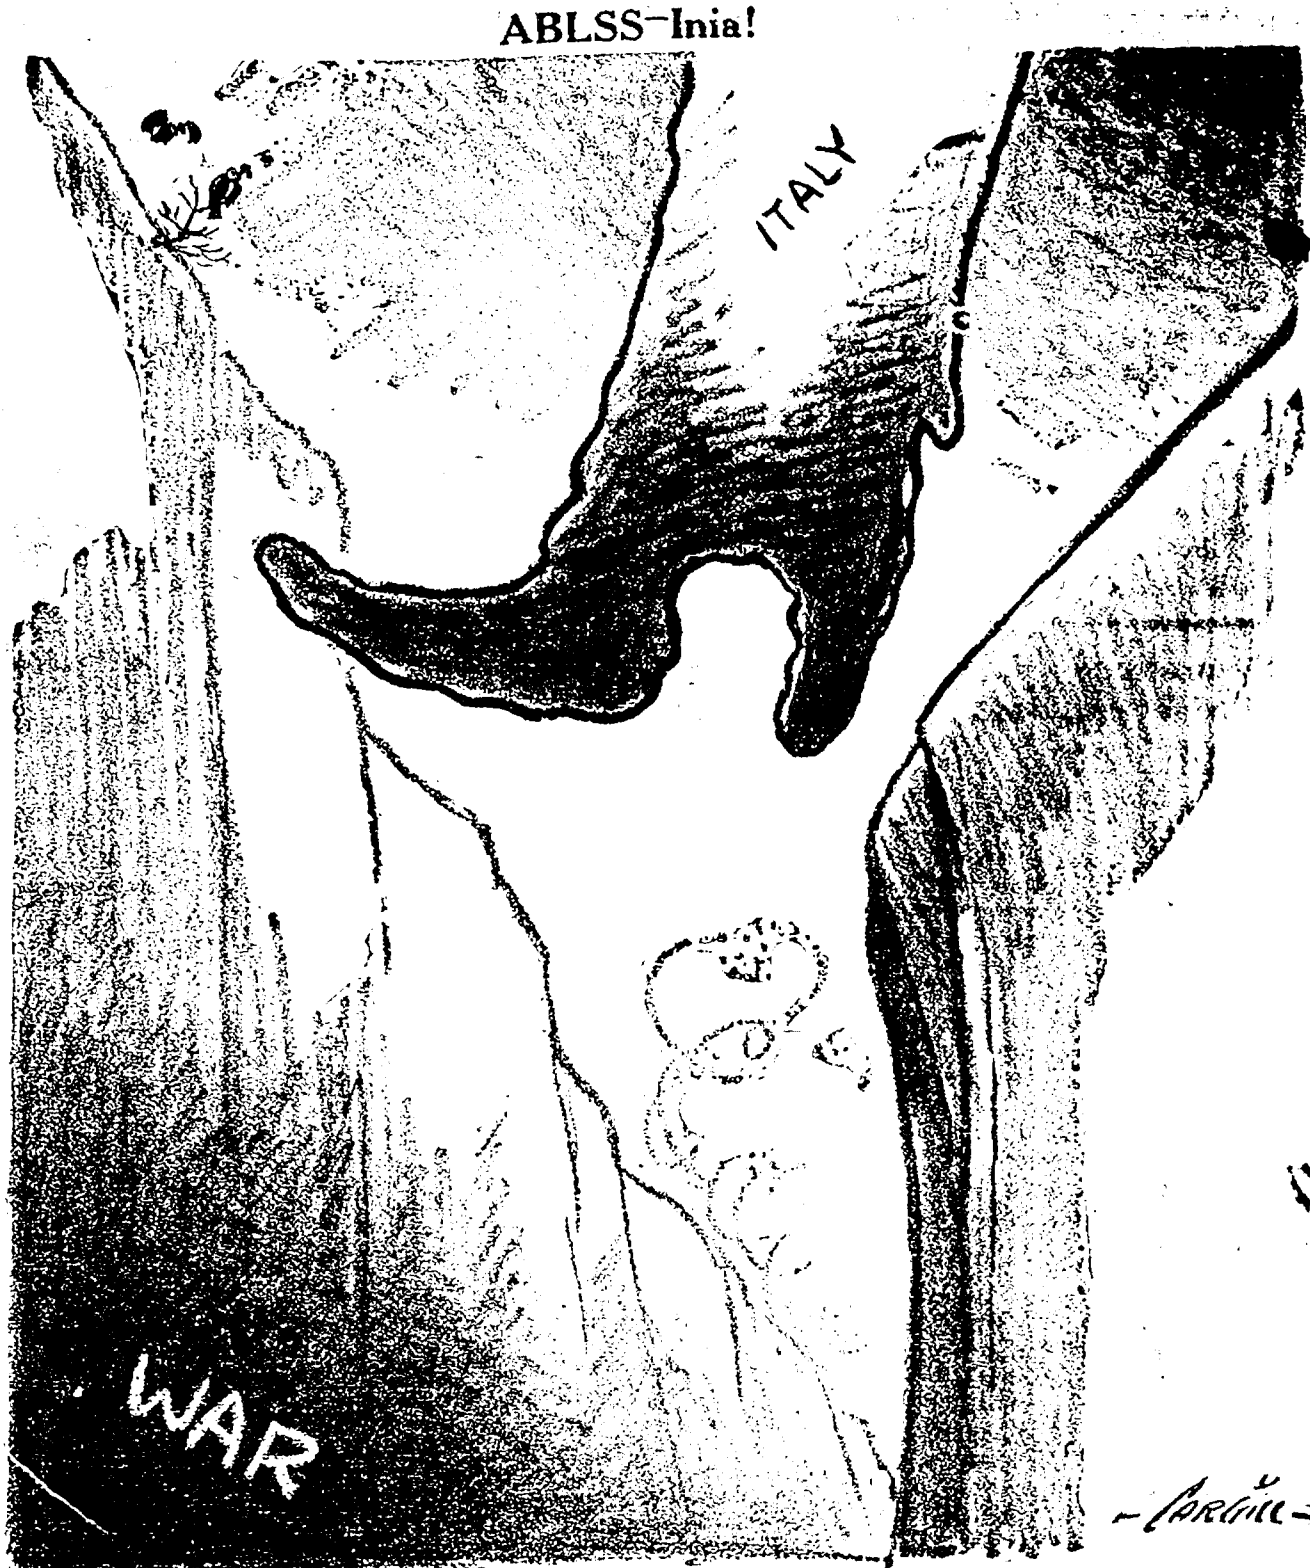

"You'll knock 'em," said he, with a kiss marital in its possessive approval.

"Worth while wrecking the family charge account for?" asked Leila, laughing brightly.

"Sure," said Orton absently, packing her in the car with the care for her shirt that a good home training had given.

They drove over silently. She wanted to scream at him. "Why on earth are all of you taking this mad banquet so seriously? What have you got back of it? Why do you do it?" But it would do no good, she knew. She was simply in that isolated mood in which one sees—removed from the rest of a delicious world—that the emperor is in his shirt, not his customary coronation robe.

They were there; a curved sweep, with a low sea wall at its edge, was where the march used to be. "They've made a good-looking place of it," Orton said, as he parked. (TO BE CONTINUED)

UNKINDNESS

Lord, make me coy and tender to offend:
In friendship first, I think, if that agree
Which I intend
Upon my friend's intent and end:
I would not use a friend as I use Thee.

If any touch my friend or his good name,
It is my honor and my love to free
His blasted fame
From the least spot or thought of blame:
I could not use a friend as I use Thee.

GIFTS

Give a man a horse he can ride,
Give a man a boat he can sail;
And his rank and wealth, his strength and health,
On sea and shore shall fail.

Give a man a pipe he can smoke,
Give a man a book he can read;
And his home is bright with a calm delight,
Though the room be poor indeed.

Give a man a girl he can love,
As I, O my love, love thee;
And his heart is great with the pulse of Fate,
At home, on land, on sea.

"Perhaps not, madam," retorted the diplomatist, "but everybody can see you!"

THEATRES

Before he left New York to play in Paramount's "College Rhythm," coming Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Clifton Theatre, Joe Penner was awarded with a medal in honor of his being voted America's "outstanding 1934 radio star." Penner, who is featured with Lanny Ross, Jack Oakie, Helen Mack and Lyda Robert in "College Rhythm," was elected to that honor by the readers of a national radio fan magazine.

TWO INTERESTING HANDS

IT IS RARE for the same player to make a top on one hand in a duplicate game, and to win a top in the next hand, as Mr. John B. Thomas did with the two hands shown today. Only North and South were vulnerable on the first hand. Both sides were vulnerable on the second hand.

Bidding went: North, Pass; East, 1-Spade; South, 2-Diamonds; West, 3-Spades; East, 4-Spades, which contract was readily fulfilled at another table, but Mr. Thomas refused to be shut out that way and bid 5-Clubs, which North shifted to 5-Diamonds.

West doubled on his 2 Aces, with an opening bid made by his partner. South ruffed the opening lead of a spade. West made good his Ace of trumps and a single heart, allowing the declarer to fulfill his contract, doubled and vulnerable. One other South player made a similar score.

The success of the contract emphasizes an important fact. It is dangerous to double a powerful suit, unless the dealer counts on his own hand and in the two adverse hands, within a single trick of the number required to defeat the contract. It is particularly dangerous to double when holding 4 of the suit bid by partner, as West did. Instead of counting the opening bidder for 2 defensive tricks, as usually may be done against a single suiter, never count him for more than a single trick against an adverse 2-suiter.

At one table East lost 100 points playing a contract of 5-Hearts. The East and West hands are difficult to play for 5-odd, either at hearts or spades.

Look over the next hand. North made a quite proper opening bid of 1-Heart (not duplicate). Before tomorrow think over what East North and South could have performed to be the only pair to go home and win top score on their holdings.

Sensations Expected From Completed Probe Of Long's Finances

WASHINGTON—Latest cloak-room report is that the Government has completed its protracted secret probing of Huey Long's financial affairs and a sensational denouement is due. Administrationites contend Huey knows this and that is why he is raising such an uproar for an investigation of Big Jim Farley. He can then claim that any Administration attack on him is in retaliation for his attacks on Farley. The Kingfish is more closely guarded than the President. Several of his bodyguard accompany him everywhere, armed with sawed-off shotguns carried in specially made brief cases. To friends who ask him why his wife and children are rarely seen with him, Huey explains that he is in constant danger of physical attack and does not want to place them in jeopardy. When Huey takes to the Senate floor for one of his harangues, the presiding officer abandons all attempt to preserve order in the visitors' galleries. With senators laughing so uproariously over Huey's antics it would be impossible to obtain silence from onlookers. The large staff of extra clerks and stenographers in Huey's office, needed to take care of his daily flood of mail are on the pay-roll of the State of Louisiana. No other member of Congress enjoys such a privilege. If they hire extra clerical help they pay for it out of their own pockets.

OUR YESTERDAYS
When Baltimore Was Hit by Fire, A Blessing in Disguise for City

Ruins after the fire
DISASTER not often is considered as a blessing, but such is the opinion expressed about the great Baltimore fire of 1904. The conflagration wiped out 46 blocks in the business section of the city, causing a damage estimated at $125,000,000. At the time, of course, the tragedy was not taken lightly. But later it was regarded as a benefit in disguise for it did much to awaken the spirit of progress in the city. The entire razed section was completely rehabilitated within three years after the blaze.

SENIORS, SOPHS GAIN VICTORIES

Seniors and sophomores won games in high school intramural league Friday evening in preliminaries.

The upper-classmen won, 12-9, with the juniors claiming they were victims of tough breaks with Friday and Griffith both put on the varsity squad in the last week of the season.

Technical fouls decided the game between sophomores and freshmen. Both coaches went on the floor to talk to their athletes and fouls were called. The sophomores made their's but the freshmen missed. The score was 6 to 5.

Stock Market Phrase

The United States stock market usually means one dollar. There is a variation according to the commodity referred to. In the cotton and coffee markets it means one hundredth part of a cent. In grain, sugar and pork it means one cent. If cotton goes up 200 points, it is a two-cent increase in price. When grain goes up five cents, it is a five-cent increase.

EQUIPOISE IS ANITA CHOICE

Believe Twenty Grand to Provide Hardest Fight in $100,000 Event

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 23.—Equipoise to win the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap today.

The mighty seven-year-old C. V. Whitney champion is likely to finish up the afternoon well established as the leading money winner of all time by vanquishing the cream of the American turf. The famous American titleholder is fit to race for the king's ransom and will have no excuses to offer in case of defeat.

The absence of Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloan's Cavalcade from the California classic is much to be regretted. But, so far as horsemen are concerned, it was an unfortunate occurrence as many thought Equipoise, in his present fine physical condition, would have nothing to fear from the Brookmeade stable representative.

Mrs. Payne Whitney's Twenty Grand, seven-year-old son of St. Germans-Bonus, is the horse likely to give "Ekky" his hardest race today. Twenty Grand has shown remarkable form in his recent races.

PURDUE MUST DEFEAT OHIO

Wisconsin On Trail of Hoosier Five; Other Games Scheduled

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—What began as a Big Ten basketball race, but apparently has narrowed down to a "Big Two" affair as far as the championship is concerned, presents a large evening tonight with five games, all counting in the Western conference standing.

However, the two featuring the leading and title-defending Purdue quintet and its foremost challenger, Wisconsin, occupy the limelight as the conference race goes into the stretch.

Purdue, out in front with seven victories and one defeat, travels to Ohio State. In their first meeting recently at Lafayette, the Buckeyes lost by one point.

The Boilermakers undoubtedly will have to win to keep from falling into a tie with Wisconsin for first place. Wisconsin, boasting seven victories and two losses, is almost a cinch to defeat Michigan at Ann Arbor this evening.

Illinois, tied with Indiana for third place, goes to Minnesota while Indiana plays the host to Northwestern, which is tied with Michigan for eighth place.

Chicago, still striving for its first conference victory, takes on Iowa at the Midway field house here.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

It's tournament day and scores of fans from all over the county were doing their various chores early today endeavoring to arrive at the CAC gymnasium in time for the first game at 1 o'clock. That tilt found Darby and Monroe tangling for honors—Games were scheduled every hour during the afternoon then at 7:30 and 9 in the evening.

Much work has been done at the CAC gym by Dr. A. D. Blackburn and his aides working with Tom Drum, CAC custodian—Bleachers have been placed clear around the gymnasium, a nicely-arranged officials' table has been placed on the west side of the court, bank-boards were to be painted, this morning and everything, in fact, was ready for the tourney.

Whether the tournament manager planned to follow the same custom used by the high school all season was uncertain—The foul lines have been found to be too far back from the out-of-bounds line—As a result the high school has been permitting charity tossers to stand with their feet over the foul line in order to even up the difference—Ev Landman, New Holland's genial all county tip-off man, might have an advantage in this arrangement since his gunboats would probably out-reach any others in the county.

The game fans are waiting for that between New Holland, defending champions, and Ashville, twice victor over New Holland, scheduled at 7 o'clock this evening—Nearly everyone believes the winner will go through the remainder of the tournament.

GOVERNMENT'S BABY BONDS GO ON SALE HERE MARCH 1

HAYS IS TOLD ABOUT PLANS

$1,000 Is Largest Denomination; Securities to Appeal to Small Investor

Postmaster Hulse Hays announced today that March 1 will see the appearance in Circleville of the new government baby bonds. The bonds will be offered for sale at the post office.

They are officially known as non-transferable United States Savings bonds and are in denominations of $25, $50, $100, $500 and $1,000 maturity value. They will come in registered form and will be offered for sale in all first, second and third class post offices as well as some selected fourth class offices.

The selling price of these bonds is $18.75, $37.50, $75, $375 and $750, respectively, for the five denominations. The bonds will mature in 10 years from the first day of the month in which issued.

May Be Redeemed
These bonds may be redeemed prior to maturity at the redemption value stated on the face of the bonds. It will be unlawful for any person at any one time to hold savings bonds issued during any one calendar year in an aggregate amount exceeding $10,000 in maturity value.

For the purpose of purchasing savings bonds, postal certificates may be cashed at the office where the certificates were issued, without loss of interest.

Regulations
There are some regulations as to cashing of these new bonds. The postal department issues the following for the guide of holders and buyers: "Payment of any savings bond at face value at maturity, or at appropriate redemption value prior to maturity (but not within 60 days after issue date), will be made following presentation and surrender of the bond, registered mail, or otherwise, at the expense and risk of the owner to the treasury department, division of loans and currency, Washington, D. C., or to any Federal Reserve bank, with the request for payment appearing on the back of the bond, duly executed by the owner and certified by any United States postmaster from whom United States saving bonds may be purchased, (authenticated by the imprint of his post office stamp by an executive officer or an incorporated bank, or trust company (authenticated by the imprint of the corporate seal of the institution), or by any other person duly designated by the Secretary of the Treasury, for the purpose. Payment will be made by check drawn to the order of the owner.

For Safekeeping
"Any savings bond will be held in safe keeping by the secretary of the treasury if the purchaser so desires, and in this connection, the secretary will utilize the facilities of Federal Reserve banks as the agents of the United States. The purchaser may arrange with any postmaster at the time of purchase, or subsequently for such safekeeping.
"Treasury department circulars governing the issue and other data concerning savings bonds will shortly be furnished all postmasters for their information and for the convenience of the public."

COOKING SCHOOL

see how Mrs. Thurn mixes, stirs and beats while she talks. Dishes go into the oven and out again. She will make a gorgeous salad one day, ice a cake, make a meltingly good pie, turn out a roast worthy of the finest chef in the land.

The women of Circleville are urged to bring their housekeeping problems, especially their cooking questions to the Cooking school, said Mrs. Thurn in an interview about the school.

As a setting for the cooking demonstrations a kitchen is being constructed on the stage of Memorial hall. It is to be a real kitchen with the range attached and working, a refrigerator, kitchen cabinet, work tables, and all the small necessary utensils needed by Mrs. Thurn in her work. She will talk from the midst of this kitchen, making new dishes at the same time. Each day's program is different, filled with valuable, new information, suggestions, helps and ideas for housekeepers of every kind.

The brides of Circleville are especially invited for Mrs. Thurn feels that these new housekeepers will find the demonstrations unusually helpful and every discussion full of ideas which will solve the bothersome problems of a new kitchen and new duties.

The Cooking school opens Tuesday at 1:30 o'clock. And continues through Friday afternoon. Gift baskets of groceries, dishes cooked on the platform, and many substantial gifts for the kitchen and house will be a part of the big gala program of Friday.
